Eastern Dual Diagnosis Service (EDDS) commenced in 2002, and is currently based at Upton House in Box Hill.

EDDS covers the Eastern Metropolitan Region (EMR) of Melbourne, and provides support to Eastern Hume Dual Diagnosis Service as a metropolitan lead agency.

EDDS is a small multi-disciplinary team consisting of

- A lived experience Carer
- Mental Health Nursing
- Psychiatry
- Social Work
- Management and Administration

How did EDDS come about?

The Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) funded an initiative to improve the responses of mental health and drug treatment services to individuals with both mental health and substance use problems (typically referred to as "dual diagnosis"). This developed into the Victorian Dual Diagnosis Initiative (or VDDI), including the state-wide dual diagnosis teams.

What is the VDDI?

A state-wide cross-sector initiative servicing government-funded Clinical Mental Health (CMH), Mental Health Community Support Services (MHCSS), and Alcohol & Other Drug (AOD) services, with aims to build capacity within the sectors in accordance with the strategic direction for dual diagnosis practice identified in the information bulletin "Victorian strategic directions for co-occurring mental health and substance use conditions" (DoH October 2013).

Four Strategic Practice Directions

- 1. Improve outcomes for people with cooccurring mental health and substance use conditions and their families and significant others
- 2. Provide integrated screening, assessment, treatment and care for people experiencing cooccurring mental health and substance use conditions
- 3. Facilitate integration of the systems and services responding to people with cooccurring mental health and substance use conditions and their families and significant others

4. Further develop dual diagnosis capability of Victorian clinical mental health, Alcohol & Other Drug and Mental Health Community Support Services sector organisations and workforce
